

Worm on a Chopstick: Understanding Today's Entrepreneurial Age: Directions, Strategies, Management Perspectives

Paul B. Silverman

Contents

WHAT READERS ARE SAYING ABOUT WORM ON A CHOPSTICK

INTRODUCTION

CHAPTER 1: ENTREPRENEURIAL “THINKING”: THE MOST CRITICAL SURVIVAL SKILL FOR THE TWENTY-FIRST CENTURY

- Perspectives on Entrepreneurial Thinking
- Mission Statements and Entrepreneurial Thinking
- Why Entrepreneurial Thinking Is a Critical Management Skill: Missing the Mark

CHAPTER 2: IDEAS (EVEN GREAT ONES) ARE NOT OPPORTUNITIES

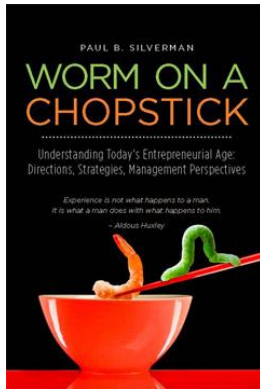

- Dissecting an Idea Disguised as an Opportunity
- Car Air Fresheners and Chicken Broilers
- “Fingerspitzengefühl” or Gut Feel
- The Three-Legged Stool Model Analysis

CHAPTER 3: INNOVATION LESSONS I: NEW PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT, THINKING “OUTSIDE OF THE ROOM”—ARCHIMEDES AND THE BATHTUB—“EUREKA!” MOMENTS

- The Need for “Thinking Outside of the Room”
- Archimedes and the Bathtub: A “Eureka!” Moment

CHAPTER 4: INNOVATION FRENZY: “THE RESEARCHER SPILLED LIQUID FLUOROCARBON ON HER SHOE ...”

- Surviving Innovation Frenzy
- Innovation Drivers: Good Planning, Serendipity, or Luck?

- Innovation and “Luddite” Challenges
- Learning from a Leader in the Innovation Process
- Learning from Losers in the Innovation Process
- Innovation: Three Key Lessons

CHAPTER 5: PERSPECTIVES ON THE INNOVATION PROCESS: GOING UP THE “INNOVATION STAIRCASE” WITHOUT TRIPPING

- What Is the Innovation Process?
- Going up the “Innovation Staircase” without Tripping
- Missing a New Innovation Staircase: The NCR Story
- Innovation Success Story: W. L. Gore & Associates
- Innovation in Practice: Intel’s Successful Approach

CHAPTER 6: WORM ON A CHOPSTICK: THE CHALLENGE OF ANIMAL AND FOOD BOUNDARIES—LESSONS FOR GLOBAL “ROAD WARRIORS”

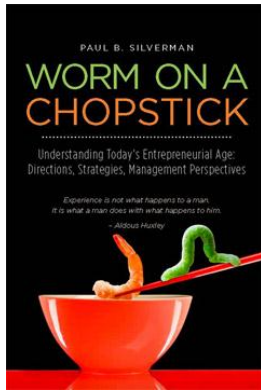

- Global Road Warrior Challenges
- Incident at the Sho-Ree Palace

CHAPTER 7: LONG TAIL MARKETING: SELLING LESS OF MORE TO MAKE MORE (DOLLARS)

- The 80/20 Rule
- How Today’s Long Tail Marketing Revolution Is Changing the Game
- Social Media and the “New Influencers”
- Advertising Sector: Traditional vs. New Directions
- Building Entrepreneurial Age Relationships with Customers
- The Pervasiveness of Social Media

CHAPTER 8: STRATEGIC PLANS AND NOT-SO-STRATEGIC PLANS

- Is Strategy Planning an Anachronism?
- Strategic Planning Process vs. Strategic Plan
- The Eight Key Questions
- The “Incomplete” Planning Process
- The “Not So Strategic Plan”

- Disruptive Innovation: A Pharmaceutical Sector Perspective
- Strategic Vision Drives a Strategic Plan
- Winners vs. Losers
- The Steve Jobs Attribute: Articulating The Vision

CHAPTER 9: PRECISION THINKING: UNDERSTANDING SET, DRIFT, ERRORS IN “BUSINESS” NAVIGATION—ARE WE HEADING FOR THE BAHAMAS OR PORTUGAL?

- Clarity, Consistency, Precision, and Fuzzy Thinking
- Some Helpful Presentation Tips to Improve Clarity and Precision
- “Peel the Onion” Presentation Strategy for Communicating Strategies
- The Cover All Bases (CAB) Principle
- Charting a Course to the Bahamas, Not Portugal

CHAPTER 10: COMPETITION: KNOWING WHEN TO CIRCLE THE WAGONS AND WHICH WAGONS TO CIRCLE

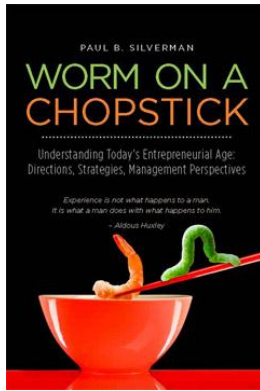

- Three “Eight Hundred Pound Gorillas” in the Room
- Competitive Analysis for Emerging Firms: Is This Really Necessary?
- Avoiding the “Paralysis by Analysis” Problem

CHAPTER 11: LAWS OF MANAGEMENT STRATEGY: NOT REPEALED FOR NEW BUSINESS VENTURES—PORTER'S FIVE FORCES MODEL AND OTHER TOOLS

- The “Seductiveness” of New Ventures
- Traditional Management “Laws” Are Not Repealed
- Porter’s Five Forces Model Measures Market Attractiveness
- How Traditional Management Tools Help Forge New Strategies
- Coca-Cola: How One Leading Edge Company Assesses Competition and Opportunities
- SWOT Analysis: A Closer Look—Understanding the Process
- SWOT Analysis: A Strategy Development Tool Disguised as a Competitive Analysis Tool
- Walt Disney: How to Successfully Identify and Leverage Company Strengths

CHAPTER 12: ENTREPRENEURIAL “PEOPLE” MANAGEMENT: THEORY X AND THEORY Y—SCHOOLS OF MANAGEMENT, NOT ALGEBRA

- The People Motivation and Management Challenge

- Industrial Revolution: Machines Displace People and Change the Rules
- The Schools of Management: From Therbligs to Theory X and Y and More
- Balancing Performance and People Needs: Theory X and Theory Y
- The Organizational Challenges for Today's High Growth Emerging Ventures

CHAPTER 13: GLOBAL BUSINESS: WHY PURSUE IT, HOW IT WORKS—THE STORY OF FRED'S FURNITURE STORE

- International Business Is Tough: Why Bother?
- Potholes on the Road to Creating a Global Business: Markets, Products, Manufacturing
- Strategic Roadmaps for Pursuing Global Business
- The Misconception of Buying American Products
- Fred's Furniture Store: The Seductiveness of Global Business

CHAPTER 14: METAPHORS AND MODELS: STRAW MEN DO MORE THAN CHASE THE BIRDS AWAY AND WALK WITH TIN MEN AND LIONS

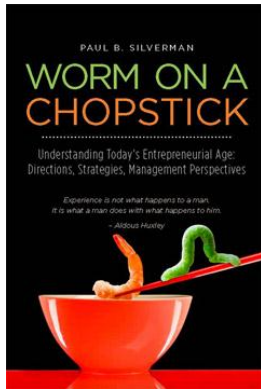

- The Need for Metaphors and Models
- The Straw Man Process: Developing a New Mobile ATM Service—"Virtual Cash Pouch"
- New Developments in Health Care: Emerging Models and Metaphors
- Guidelines for the Straw Man Modeling Process
- Straw Man Modeling Process: Tips for Success

CHAPTER 15: MANAGEMENT 101: STATISTICS, ANALYTICS, AND KEEPING SCORE

- The Power of Statistics
- Average Performance Is Not Acceptable
- Next Generation Business Intelligence and Predictive Analysis Models: Where We Are Heading

CHAPTER 16: ENTREPRENEURIAL LEVERAGE AND "SHOVEL READY" PROJECTS; PERSPECTIVES FOR POLICYMAKERS

- The "Traditional" Business Called Government Policy
- So What Exactly Is a "Shovel Ready" Project?
- Driving Economic Growth with Information Policy Rather than Shoveling Dirt

- Small and Medium Companies: Play a Key Globalization Role
- So What New Ideas Should We Pursue, and Who Should Pursue Them?
- Playing Catch-Up in the Global Economy: Time for Action Is Now
- Representative Entrepreneurial Empowerment Program (EEP)

CHAPTER 17: TODAY'S INFORMATION AGE REVOLUTION: WE HAVE FACED "TSUNAMI" MARKET CHALLENGES BEFORE

- The Revolution in 1939: Book Industry in Transition
- Surviving Tsunami Market Challenges

CHAPTER 18: SOME FINAL THOUGHTS

- Perspective: Four Blind Men and the Elephant—It Only Looks Like an Island from the Water
- Learning: The Counsel of Taxi Drivers
- Entrepreneurial Firms: Like Football or Basketball Teams?
- Finding a Place to Stand
- Ethics: The Narrow Line We Walk
- Where We Go from Here

AN OPEN INVITATION

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

ENDNOTES